Charges Under Imperialism

The great ally, the likely role of CIA, intelligence, and disturbances in India and Laos doesn't prove that the U.S. is "lily white."

Neither does the "Red Pressure on Nehru," as interpreted here by opinion makers, what even illustrates India.

Who supplies Pakistan, an unfriendly neighbor, with arms, almost $80 million worth a year? Who but the U.S.?

Is that the only way the United States can maintain employment for its workers by alienating the friendship that might have been ours from almost 400 million inhabitants of India?

H. WALTON,

Chicago.
